Keniston's Comments

A great set of results achieving 100% satisfaction with the majority of residents being VERY satisfied in all aspects.

The early stage of a kitchen refurbishment contract (kitchen planning stage) such as this involves Keniston's project team working very closely with residents and the kitchen supplier. This includes, inviting residents to a kitchen selection appointment where they are able to view samples and make their choice for: kitchen unit door style, worktop, wall tile, flooring and paint colour. The kitchen unit supplier, Howdens' Joinery, then carries out a kitchen planning appointment to measure and provide a kitchen plan unique to each property. A 'Kitchen Pack' (as illustrated on the last page) is then circulated to residents - it includes their unique kitchen plan, a copy of their resident selection form, confirmation of their start date and an information leaflet explaining what to expect during the work, before forwarding details to the contractor, B & L Construction, in preparation of their start date.

Keniston has worked with B & L Construction on a variety of contracts over the years, always achieving extremely high levels of resident satisfaction. Their organisation skills is second to none, resulting in the work and ultimately Keniston's "sign-off" inspection flowing seamlessly from home to home throughout each contract. As captured in the residents' comments overleaf, they really do form a great rapport with residents, are incredibly customer focused, complete the work to a high standard and all within a very short timeframe of five days.

Many thanks to B & L Construction who we hope to work with on many more contracts to come.

What, if anything, can we do better next time to improve the service next time?

Continue to look at ways of how we can enhance what is already a very good service.
